BRAMPTON'S JUBILEE CELEBRATION

OLD HOME WEEK

provides an opportunity to congratulate the Citizens of this Town on the splendid progress that has been made during the past few years, and to express the hope that no obstacles will arise to arrest that forward tendency, so that the slogan "10,000 in Ten Years" may be realized.

To those who are now returning after long absence, we join our Fellow Citizens and Co-Manufacturers in welcoming you on your return to your native Town. We trust the efforts made, and in contemplation, to place Brampton in the front rank of Canadian Towns, meets with your hearty approval.

To our Visitors, we also extend a very warm welcome, expressing the desire you make yourselves quite at home, so when the time comes for leave-taking, you will carry away pleasing recollections of the efforts made to entertain and amuse you, as well as lasting remembrances of friendships made during your visit with us.

With best wishes,

MR. AND MRS. JOHN ELLIOTT, FOUNDERS OF BRAMPTON*Mr. John Elliott.*Mrs. John Elliott.*PIONEERS WHO WOULD BE PROUD OF BRAMPTON TO-DAY

One hundred years ago, John Elliott and his wife landed on what is now the site of the Town of Brampton, and named it from the English town they had left. Queen St. was the northern boundary of their land. Richard, William, Matthew, three sons, lived upon part of the original farm. That district lying immediately to the south of Queen Street was cut up into village sites, and later John Elliott gave the site for the Municipal buildings. William Buffy was the first store-keeper. John Scott had a grist mill and distillery on Queen Street East. Later George Wright gave a site for the first English Church, and also a site on Main Street for a market, while John Scott gave the land for Grace Church. Kenneth Chisholm, Peel's first Provincial member, gave the old Concert Hall. John Clarke kept store on the southwest corner of Main and Queen Streets, and below were the store of Lewis Bright and the photo studio of John Cole. Chisholm & Elliott store on the southwest corner of Main and Queen Streets, succeeding the store built by Peleg Howland, is still a memory of the old-time residents.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

J. W. Cole was making portraits that recall fond memories of the past.

To-day J. B. Cole is making portraits that will be prized fifty years from to-day.

A business built on quality and permanency.

When old friends get together it's a good time to have photos made.

Brampton's First Mayor

JOHN HAGGERT

A pioneer who set a great example in the municipal field of effort.

Brampton's middle name has always been "Progress." In 1873 the town had a thriving industry in the shape of a big foundry, employing 150 men, and turning out agricultural implements and stoves. In those days there was a fine football team, the "Maple Leafs," and a "Mechanics' Band," both composed mainly of men drawn from the Haggert Foundry. It was in 1873 that the town showed its progressive turn of mind by incorporating as a town with John Haggert as its first mayor. That year the officers of the village were: Kenneth Chisholm, reeve; J. P. Clark, deputy-reeve; Dr. C. Y. Moore, D. S. Leslie, John Anthony, councillors; John McCulla, clerk; T. A. Agar, treasurer.

Brampton's Mayor of To-day

H. W. DAWSON

In 1873, when incorporated as a town, Brampton had a population of 2317, to-day's citizens number 4,477. She has 11 live industries, the Dale Estate, now the oldest, and employing 250 hands, giving the town its name of "Flower Town." Her assessment is over $2,300,000. She has a splendid Hydro system, waterworks system worth $156,000, with electric fire alarm system, and an electric truck. Her High School is noted all over Ontario, and she will have at the end of this year public schools worth $200,000. A skating and a curling rink, bowling green, golf grounds, and tennis courts, a fine race track and athletic grounds, suffice for pleasure. Six churches and the Salvation Army fill the people's spiritual needs. The town was never better served than by this year's council, consisting of H. W. Dawson, Mayor; F. W. Wegenast, Reeve; J. E. Fullerton, Dep.-Reeve; W. J. Beatty, J. Harmsworth, J. Speers, W. C. Bartlett, Jas. Martin, Herb Robinson; C. M. Corkett, Clerk; R. G. Edwards, Treasurer.

Brampton's Town Council

F. W. WEGENAST
Reeve of Brampton

Brampton realizes more and more with the passing years what she owes to Town Councils past and gone, for various steps in her development. The Council of 1922 is composed of a body of men who will be associated not only with the semi-centennial, but with one of the most forward going years in her history, and as the council which paved the way for the "10,000 in 10 years." Along with the Council must be named the Hydro Commission, C. S. McDonald, Chairman; Mayor H. W. Dawson, T. W. Duggan; Water Commission, William Higgins, Chairman; Mayor H. W. Dawson, L. J. C. Bull; Council: Mayor H. W. Dawson; Reeve, F. W. Wegenast; Deputy-Reeve, J. E. Fullerton; Councillors, W. J. Beatty, James Martin, W. C. Bartlett, Herb Robinson, James Harmsworth, John Speers; Engineer, W. E. Treadgold; Solicitor, A.G. Davis; Clerk, C. M. Corkett; Treasurer, R. G. Edwards; Chief of Police, Andrew Herkes; Caretaker, William Henry; Town Commissioner, Tom Moore.

8.00 p.m.—Concert by Queen's Own Rifles, first prize Canadian Band of Toronto. By kind permission of Col. A. J. Kirkpatrick, Commandant, and Officers of the Q.O.R., the following programme will be rendered:

PROGRAMME

1. "The Toronto Police Force March" - R. Hayward
(Specially composed for the Toronto Police Force Silver Band, of which Captain Hayward is musical director)

2. Overture—"Zampa" - - - Herold

3. Valse—"Estudiantina" - - - Waldteufel

4. Humoresque—"A Musical Switch" - Allford

5. Musical Absurdity—"A Farmyard Competition" R. Hayward

(Synopsis—Dawn, the various occupants of the farmyard awake, giving voice to their various cries: The rooster, ducks, cows, cuckoo, horse and dog are heard, and all goes merrily till the advent of a skylark awes them to silence. The rooster takes up the challenge to song, and a competition takes place, a passing donkey putting his head over the gate to add his voice to the remainder. The farmer's boy arrives to water the horse, singing and whistling cheerily at his work. The attentions of the dog becoming a little too effusive, the boy flings the empty bucket at the offender. Tableau!)

INTERMISSION

Brampton's Veteran Post Master

W. A. McCULLA

Touched lightly by the passage of the years, William A. McCulla will be one of the happiest figures in the Old Home Week. Few will greet so many friends, for he has been a resident of Brampton for 73 years. When he arrived here with his parents, as a boy of 11, walking from Port Credit, up the Centre Road to reach the little village, he found the place that the enterprise of the pioneers had caused to grow in the bush. His stories of the activities, the friendliness, the determination of the Brampton of the earlier days, are like the pages of a romance. Always an outstanding figure in the history of Brampton. Mr. McCulla's name is coupled with Dominion history as member for Peel, with the post office, as its chief executive for nearly 40 years. He helped build the school, and then to rear the educational system of the town. Greetings and good wishes will be showered upon him during Old Home Week.

Sport in Brampton

THE EXCELSIOR MANN CUP TEAM

People who lived in Brampton and people who have only heard of the town, think of it in terms of sport. Fifty years ago, the famous Excelsior lacrosse team came into existence, and that is one sporting asset that can never die. When the Senior team went to Vancouver in 1914, the name of Brampton sprang out in bright letters on the sporting annals of Canada, there to remain for all time. The whole town loves sport. In the summer they play golf and tennis, and the bowlers never lose an hour. Devotees of the diamond have their days of joy. In the fall the football teams erect cross-bars and nets. When King Winter binds stream and lakelet, the skaters rejoice, and the hockey teams hunt out puck and sticks, and joyously engage in this glorious game. The curlers ply the stanes as long as the ice lasts. Not alone for the pleasure of the game do Bramptonians engage themselves. It is also for the joy of competition and for the joy of winning for the Old Home Town. If there is one thing more than another in which her children are loyal, it is in their desire to honor her by success in their games.
